

Prince Dobalob's Coloring & Activity Book

Prince Dobalob Builds a Zeppelin

The coloring and activity book

Written and illustrated by Stacy Winnick

© Copyright 2026

This activity book is a complimentary supplement to the book and may be printed and distributed but not sold. Print out a couple copies and put them in your local Little Free Library. Dobby himself will come after anyone who attempts to make a profit on this pulchritudinous endeavor.

Prince Dobalob's book is appropriate for Middle Grade readers.

Prince Dobalob builds a Zeppelin is available online everywhere. We respectfully request that you support your favorite local bookstore with your purchase. Kindly surf to Bookstore.org where you can then navigate to your own store. Or buy your copy from my own fabulous local bookstore, Third Place Books, in Lake Forest Park, Washington.

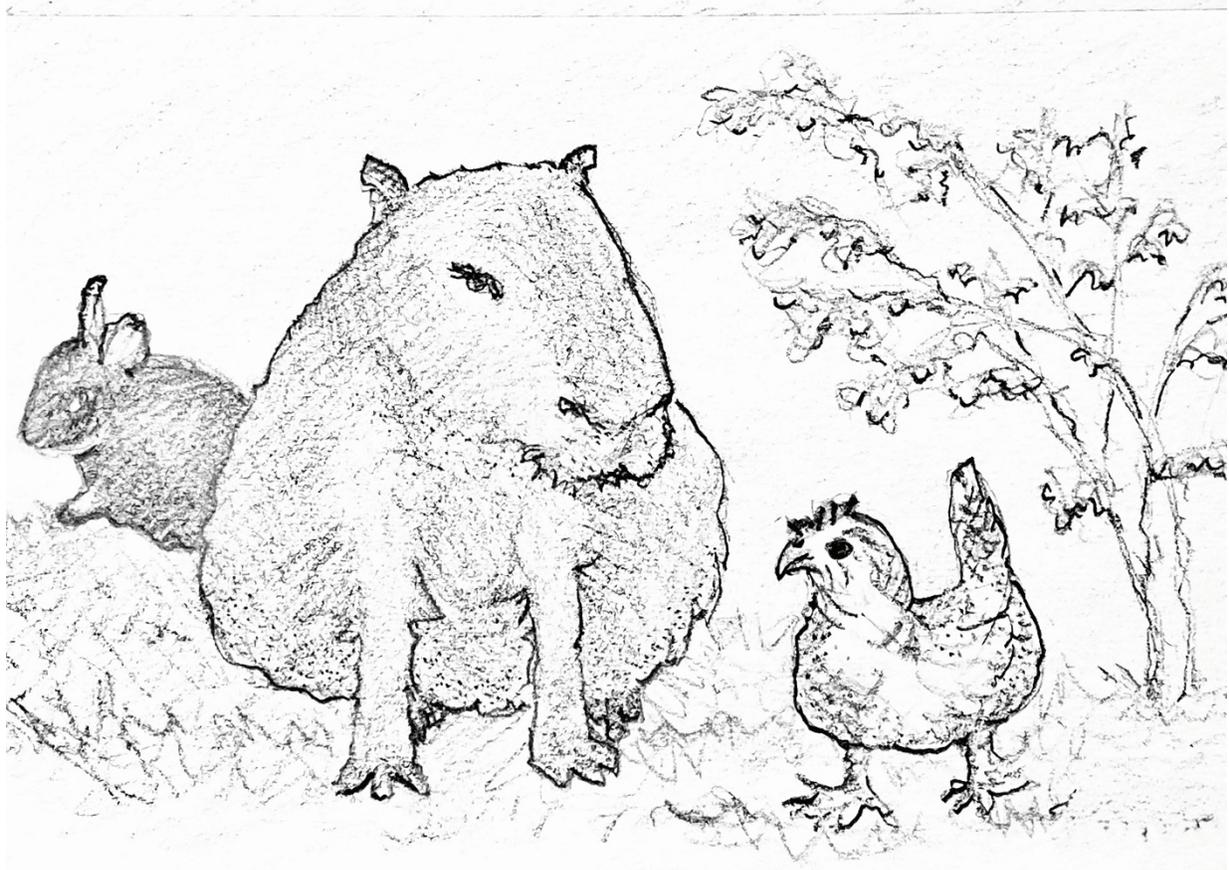

Prince Dobalob is riding a Segway, but he has no pants! This is a fad started by Donald Duck. The Prince ought to at least have harem pants or a ballerina skirt.

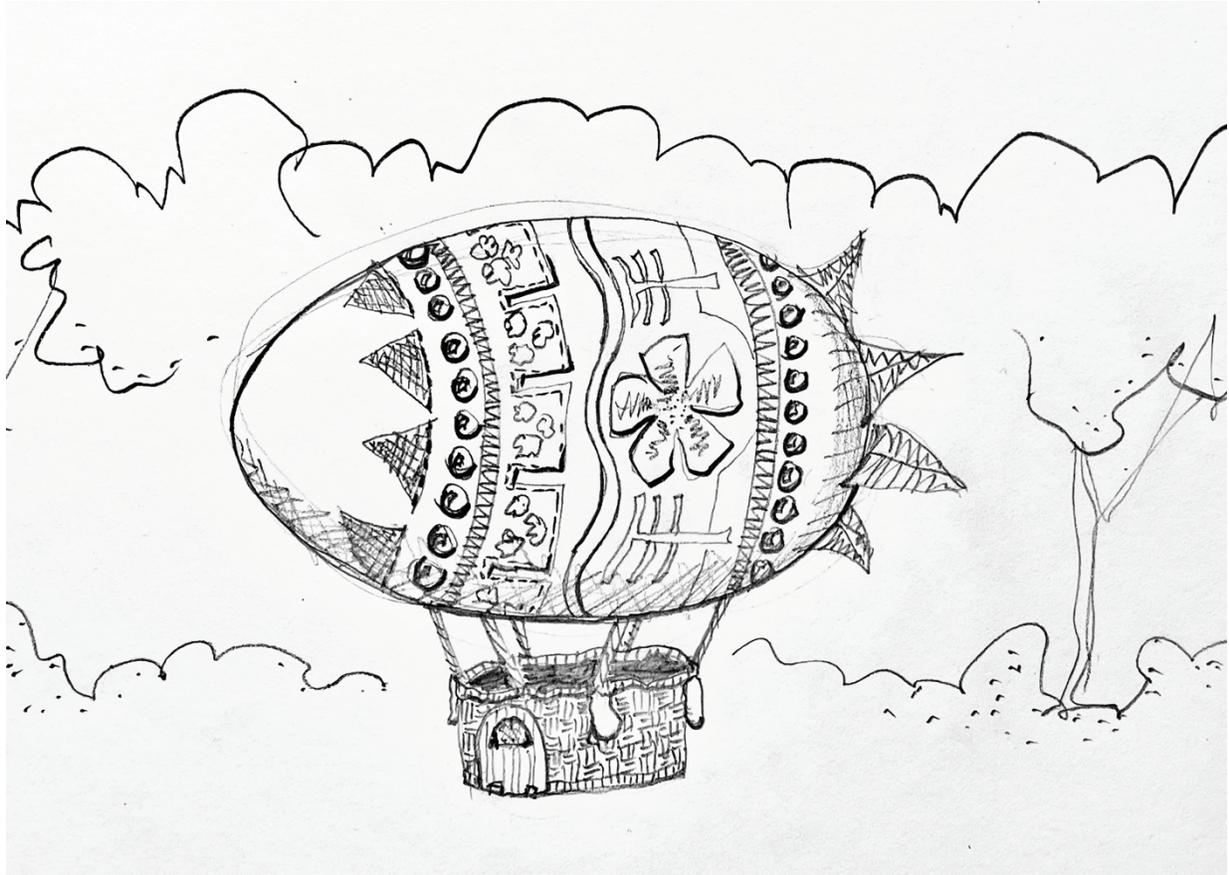

This is King Clyde, Dobalob's dad. Why isn't he wearing a crown? He's very dignified so don't draw anything silly! Don't mess up his hat!

Prince Dobalob was cute when he was a baby, and very silly. He didn't like hats, so don't do that to him! He especially disliked very tall hats.

Prince DobaLob was friendly and loved birds. Draw him some duck friends in a pond and maybe some crows flying over. Maybe one on his head.

This ridiculous blimp looks like an Easter egg. Whoever heard of one Easter egg? Draw a bunch more of them!

Prince Dobby is diving into a basket here, but he's more famous for diving into his pool. Where is his swimsuit? Why doesn't he have any pool toys?

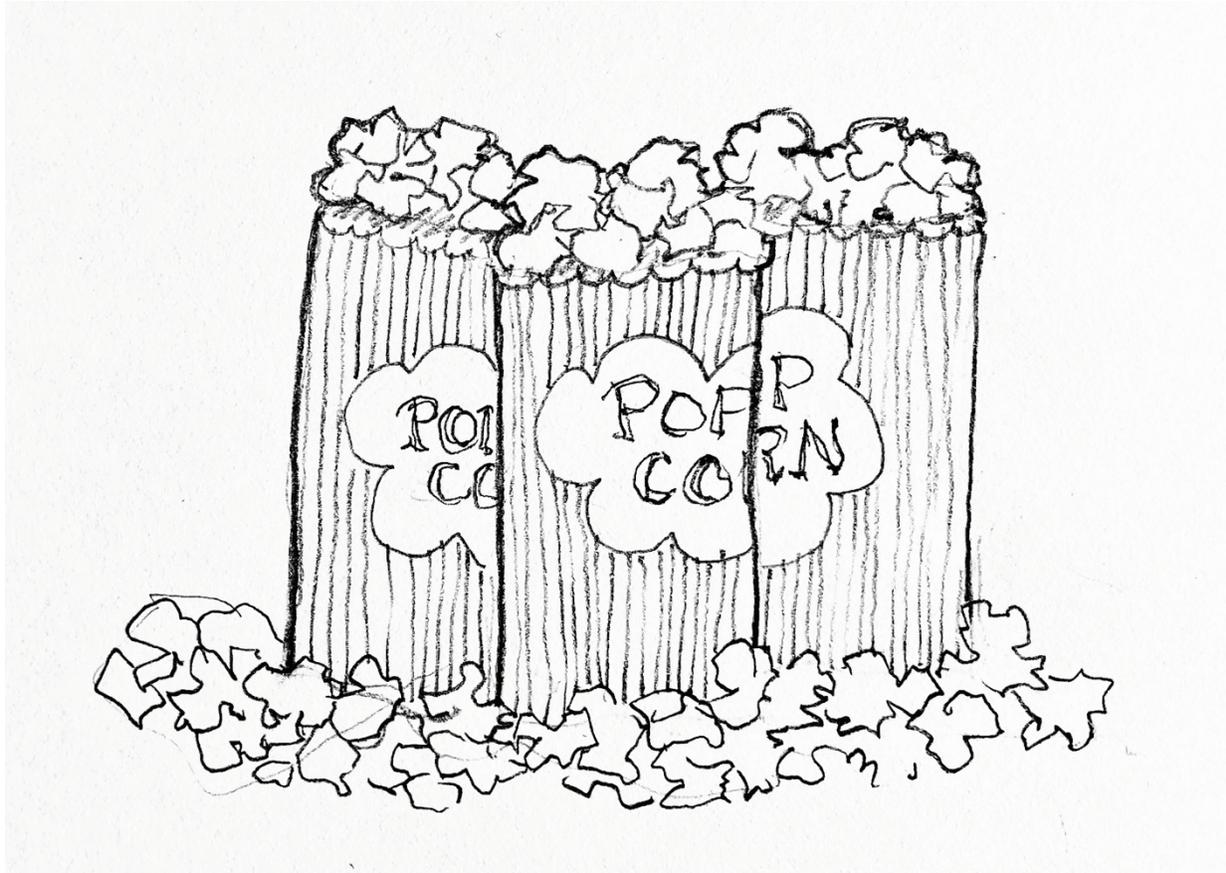

Prince Dobalob ordered lunch, but it hasn't yet arrived. Draw him a fancy lunch, maybe a pizza and a couple hot dogs. And make it snappy!

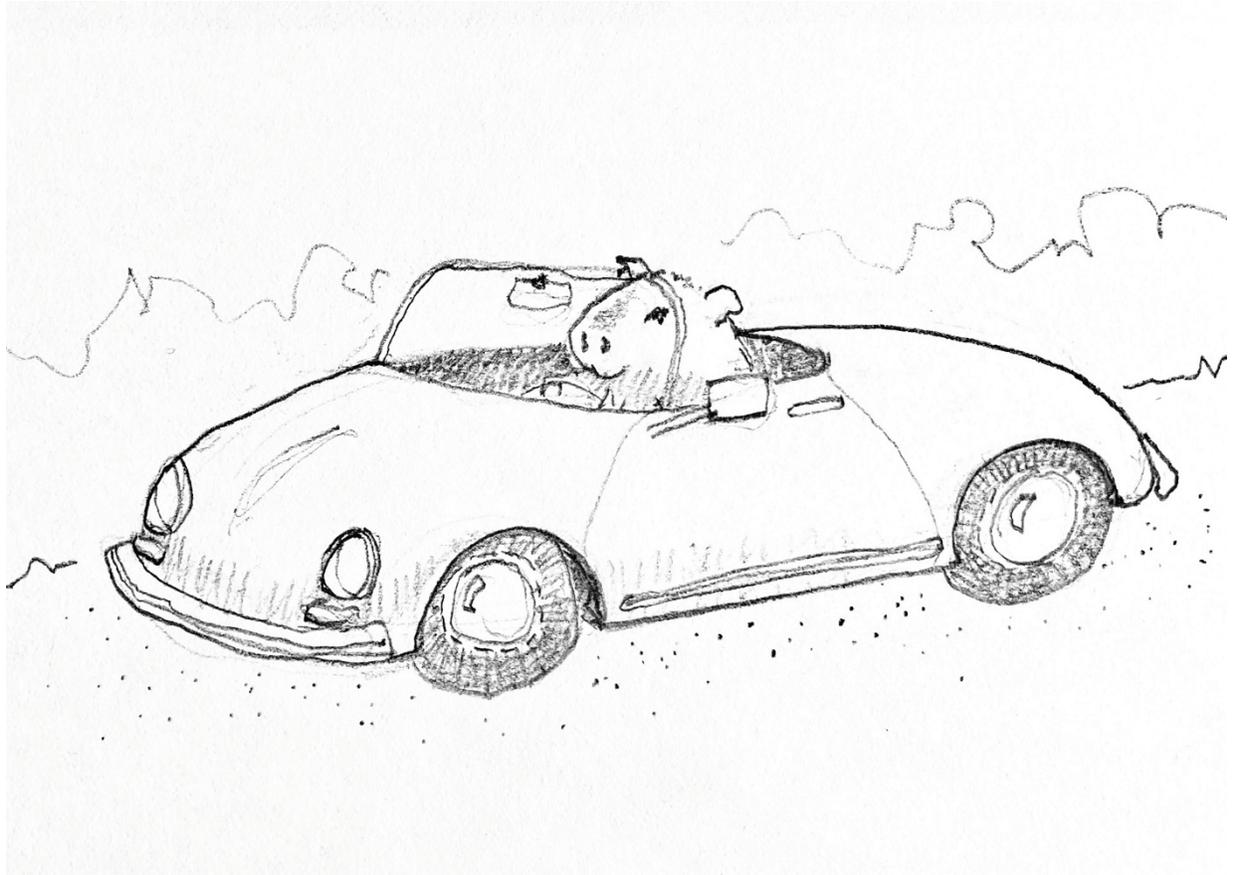

This is where the hens live but they aren't home. You can fix that!

There ought to be frogs on those lily pads. Is he looking at fish down there?

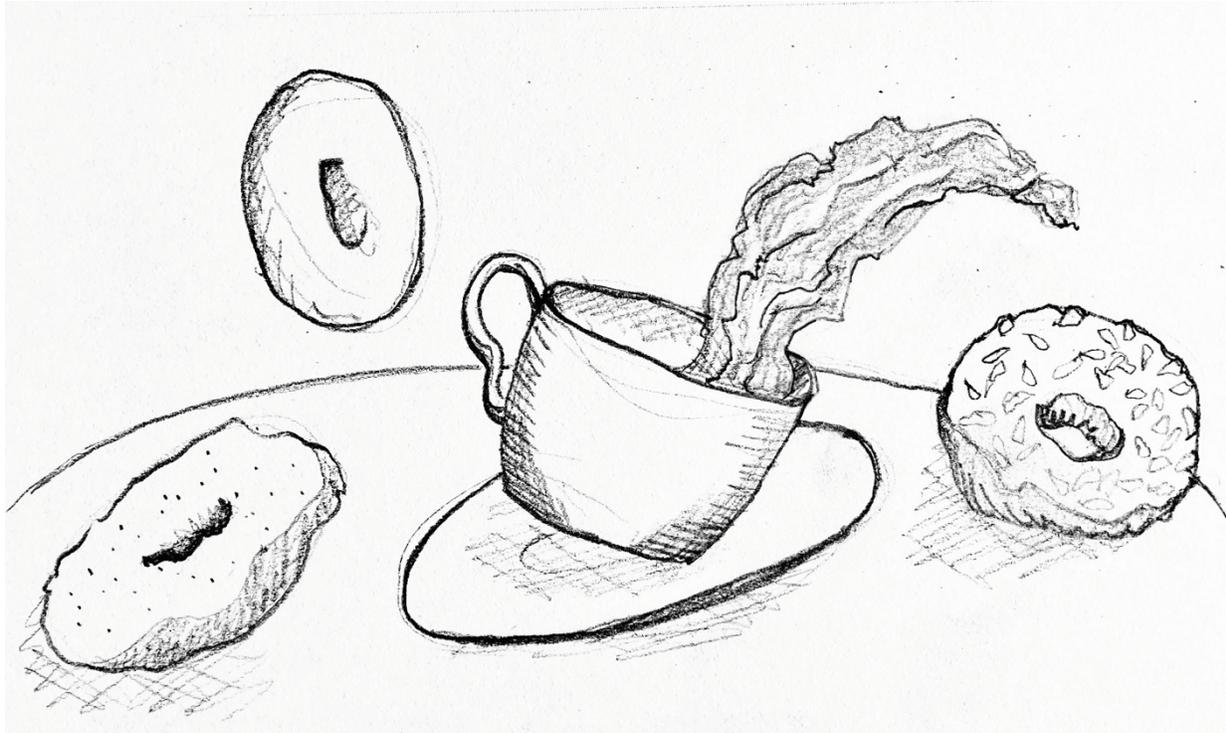

There's more to life than popcorn. What else can you eat at the movies?

This looks too pleasant. Add a couple more cars and make a traffic jam.

Dobby spilled his root beer float. Make it a great big mess!

Now he has spilled his coffee. Better bring the coffee pot. Or maybe just add a bunch more donuts.

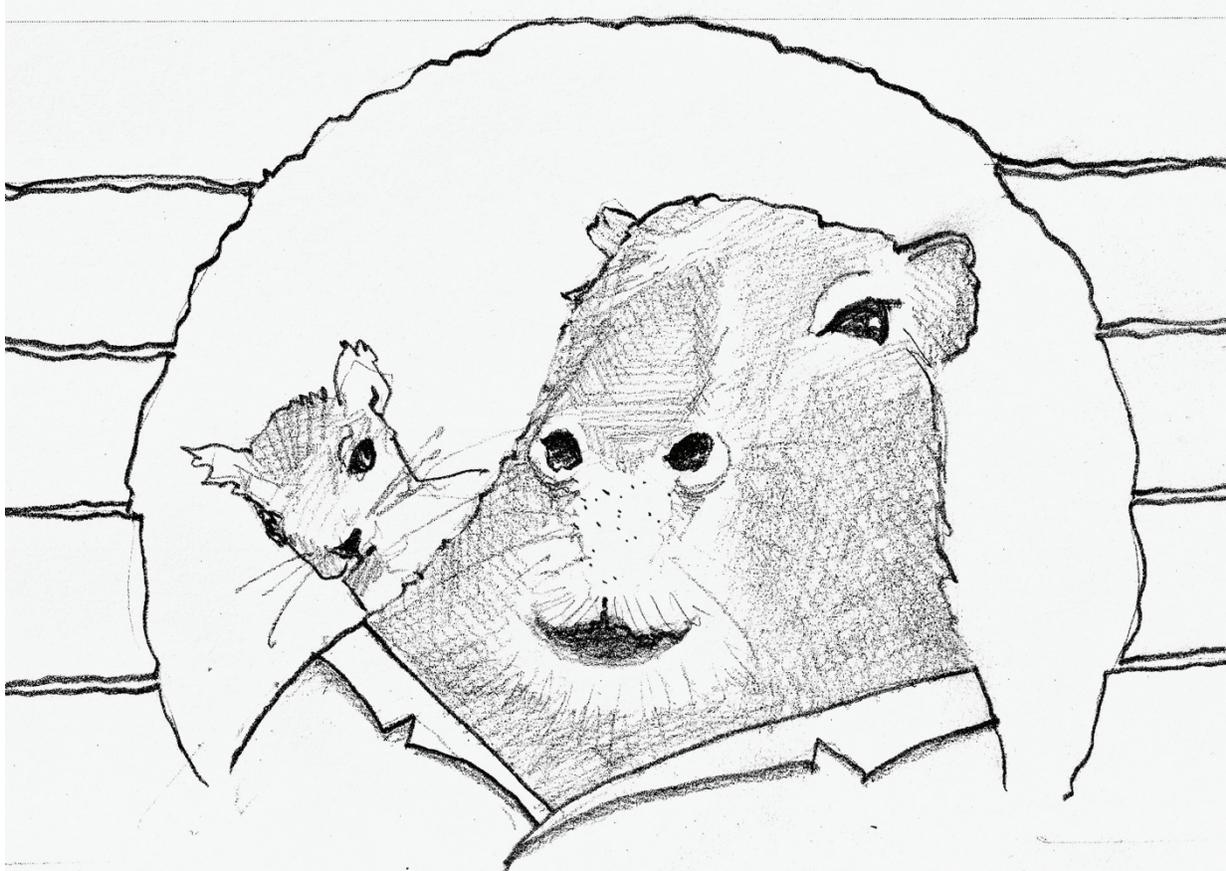

Topiary trees are usually just plain green. That's so boring! The hat is ruined but it used to be fancy. That's an expensive flower pot, too.

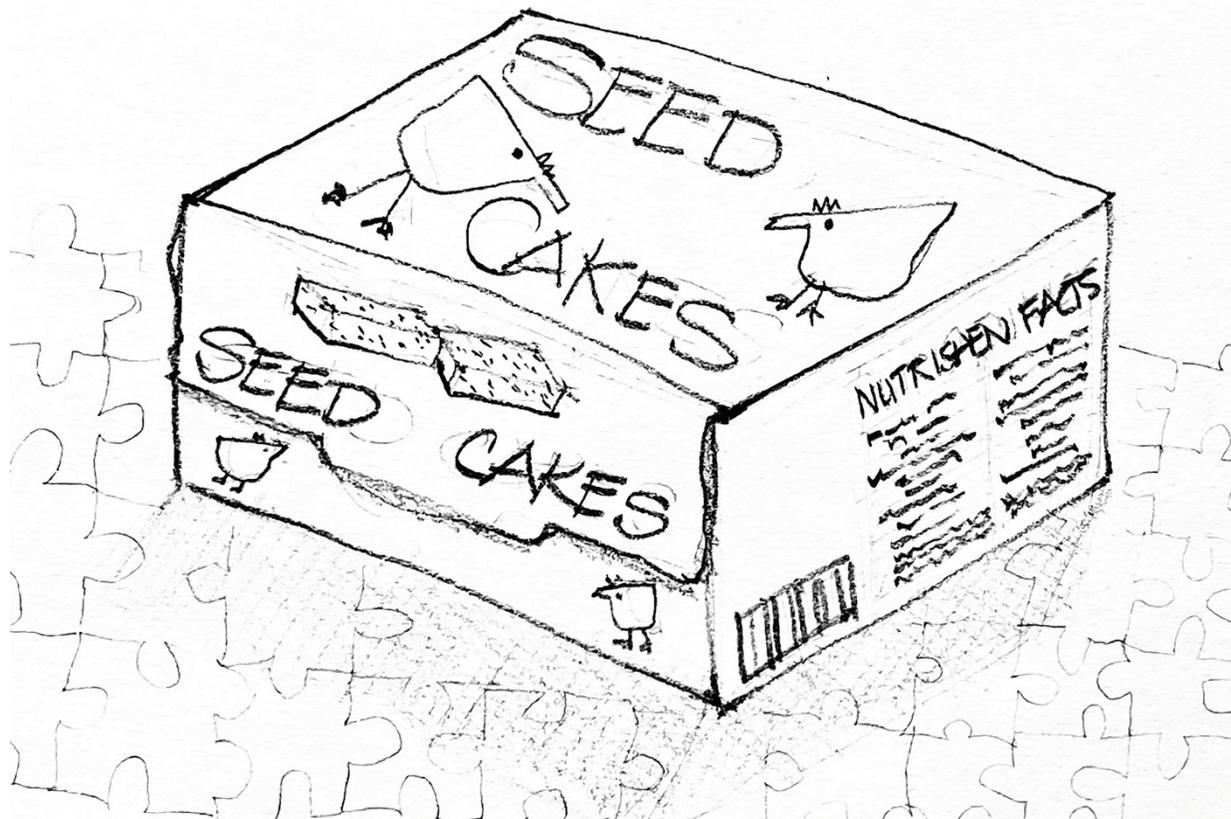

This looks like a lot of money, but you can make this pile a lot bigger.

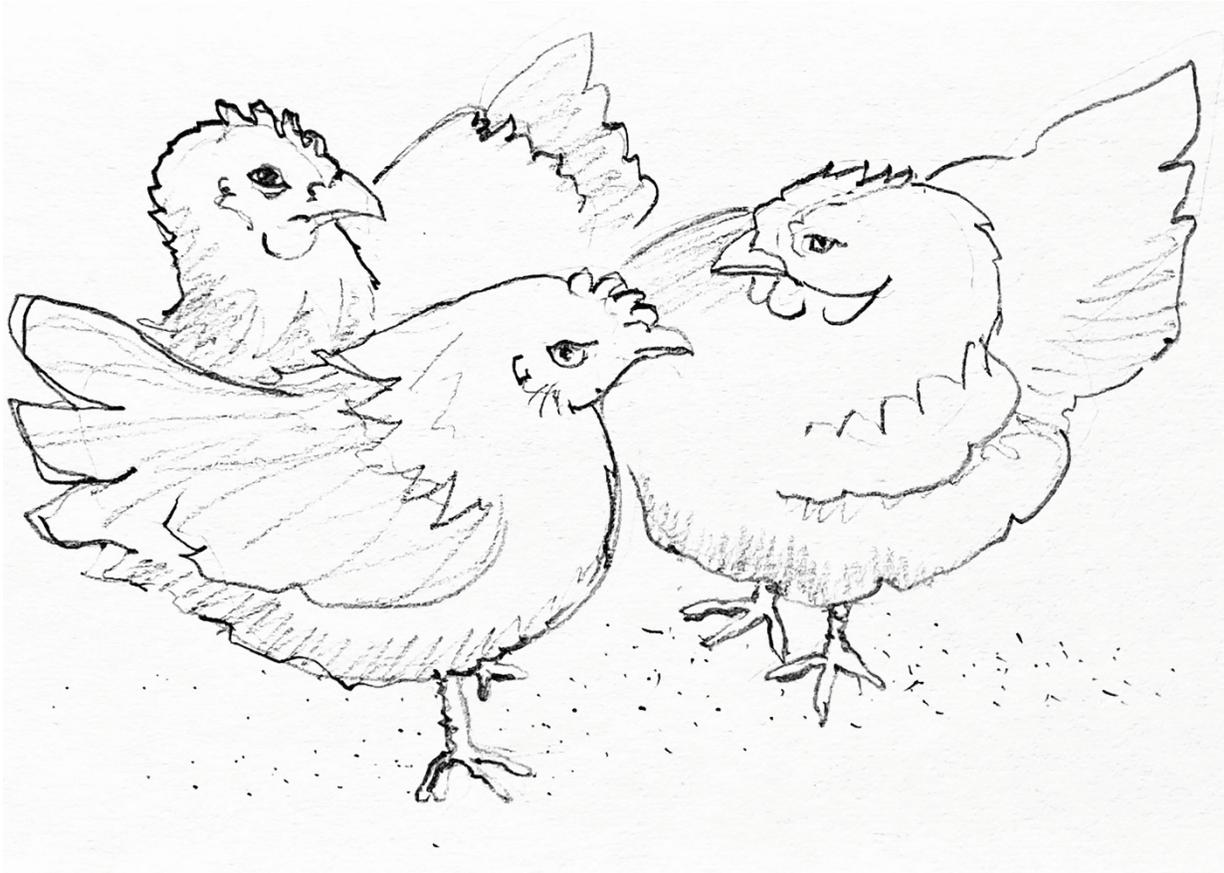

Prince Dabalob has bought three hats for his squirrel friends. Where is the Prince's hat?

Sali is one of the Prince's squirrel friends. She is wondering how a big fat capybara could get stuck in the tiny bathroom. Draw him a door and doorknob so he can get out.

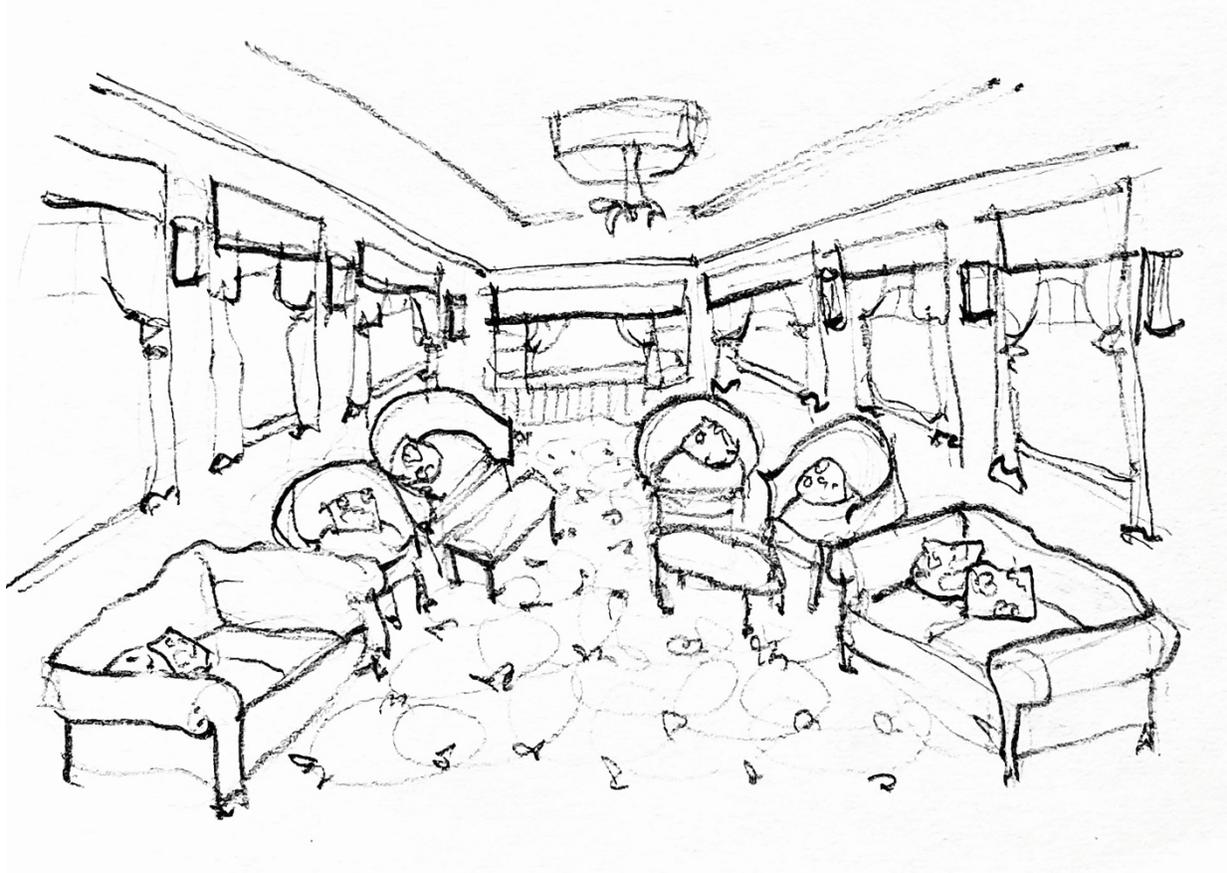

This is an ugly cracker box. Can you draw a fancy one?

These hens are angry because the birdseed has disappeared. They need a big pile of it, and don't forget the bugs! Chickens love to eat bugs!

This is a picture of Percy the missing rooster. The hens all love him, especially Bianca. How about a fancy picture frame?

This is the seating area inside the zepplin's riding car. It's ready for a couple capybaras, some hens, a few squirrels, and hundreds of naked mole rats all over the place.

Prince Dobby and his friend Sylvia take a drive around the Principality of Bolabod. Is that a castle in the distance?

How can they dance with no music? Some musical notes would help.

Tix is driving the snack cart inside the zeppelin riding car. What is on the menu?

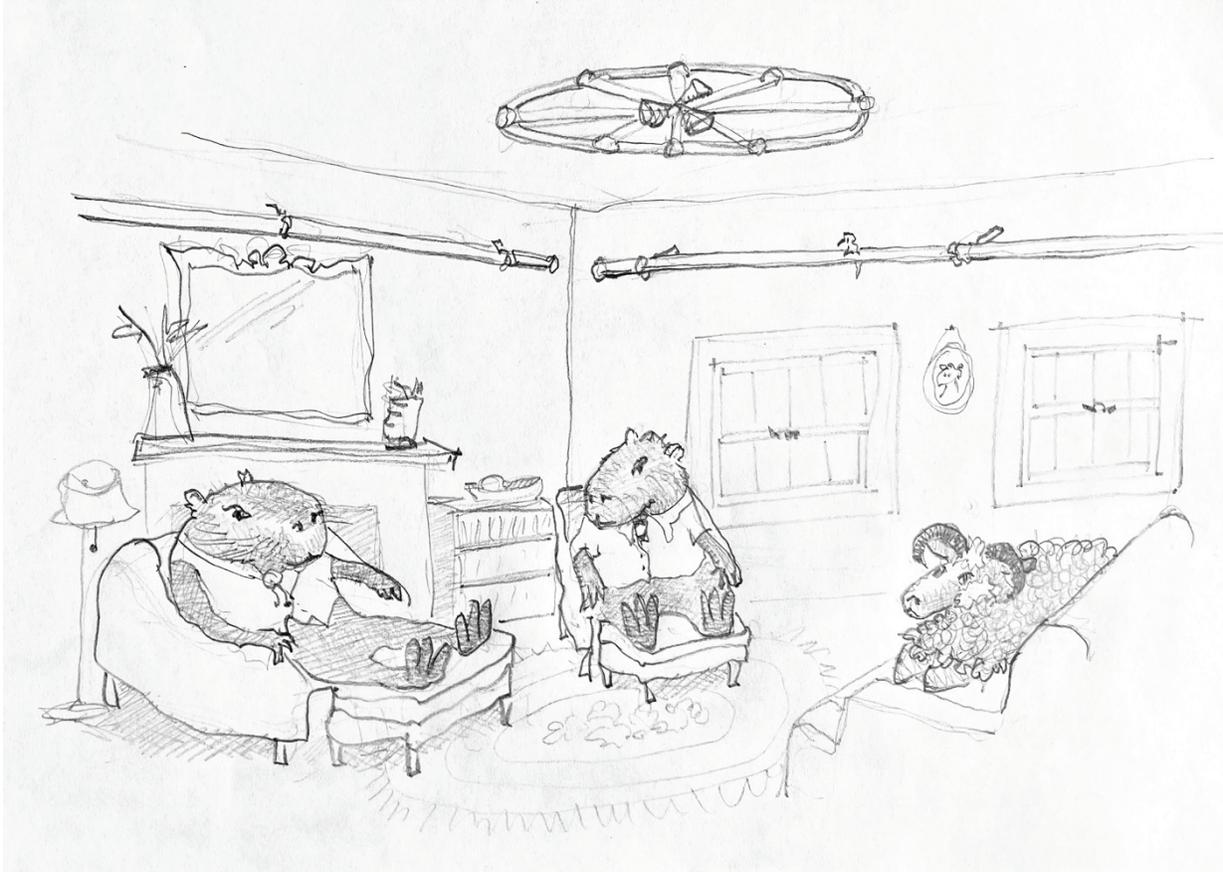

During a test drive of the zppelin's amphibious riding car, Newt, it slipped off the bank of the River Dobby. Turtles are towing Newt back up to solid ground. There are lots more fish and turtles in the river, and maybe even an alligator!

Charlie and Hamish are apple-eating fool sheep. Draw their apple tree. They're hangry!

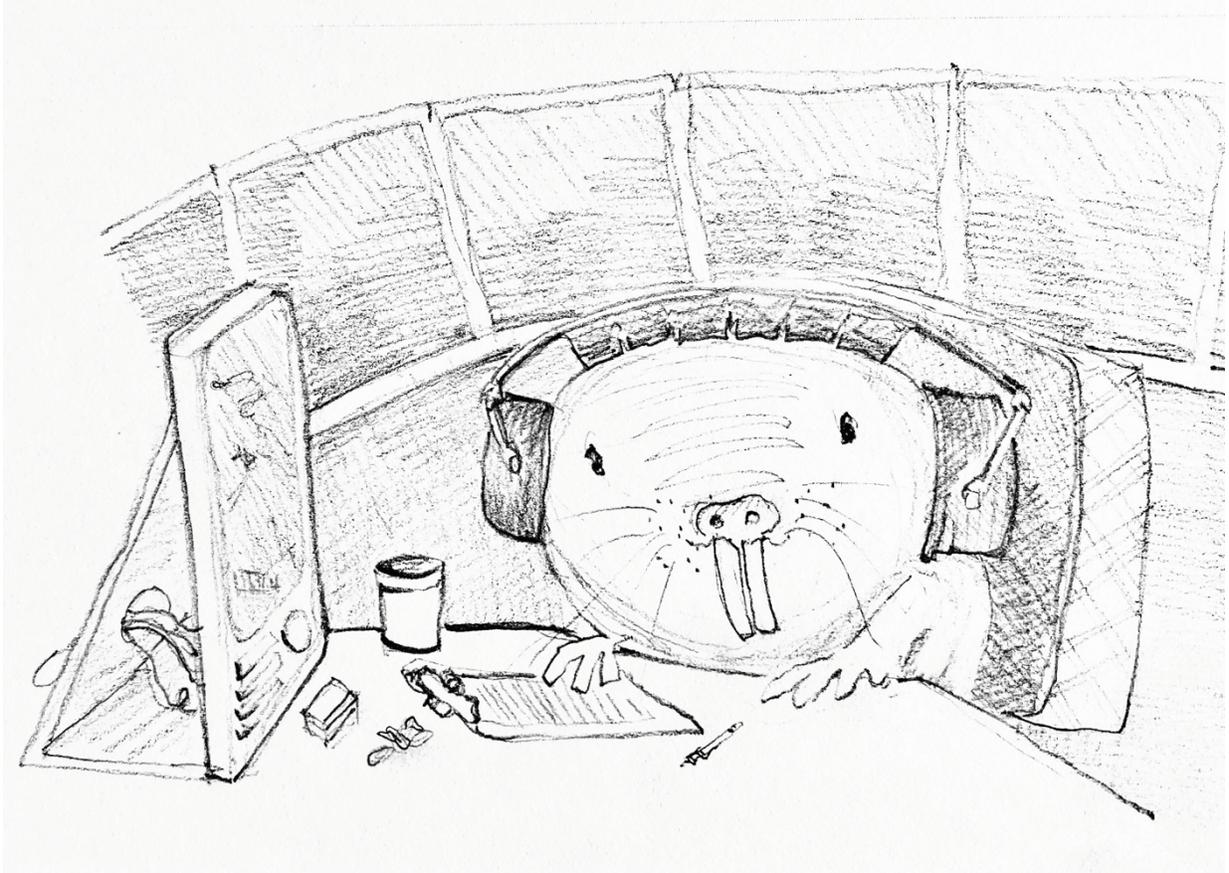

Prince Dobalob dressed up like a sheriff while he investigated some missing bird seed. He forgot his mustache!

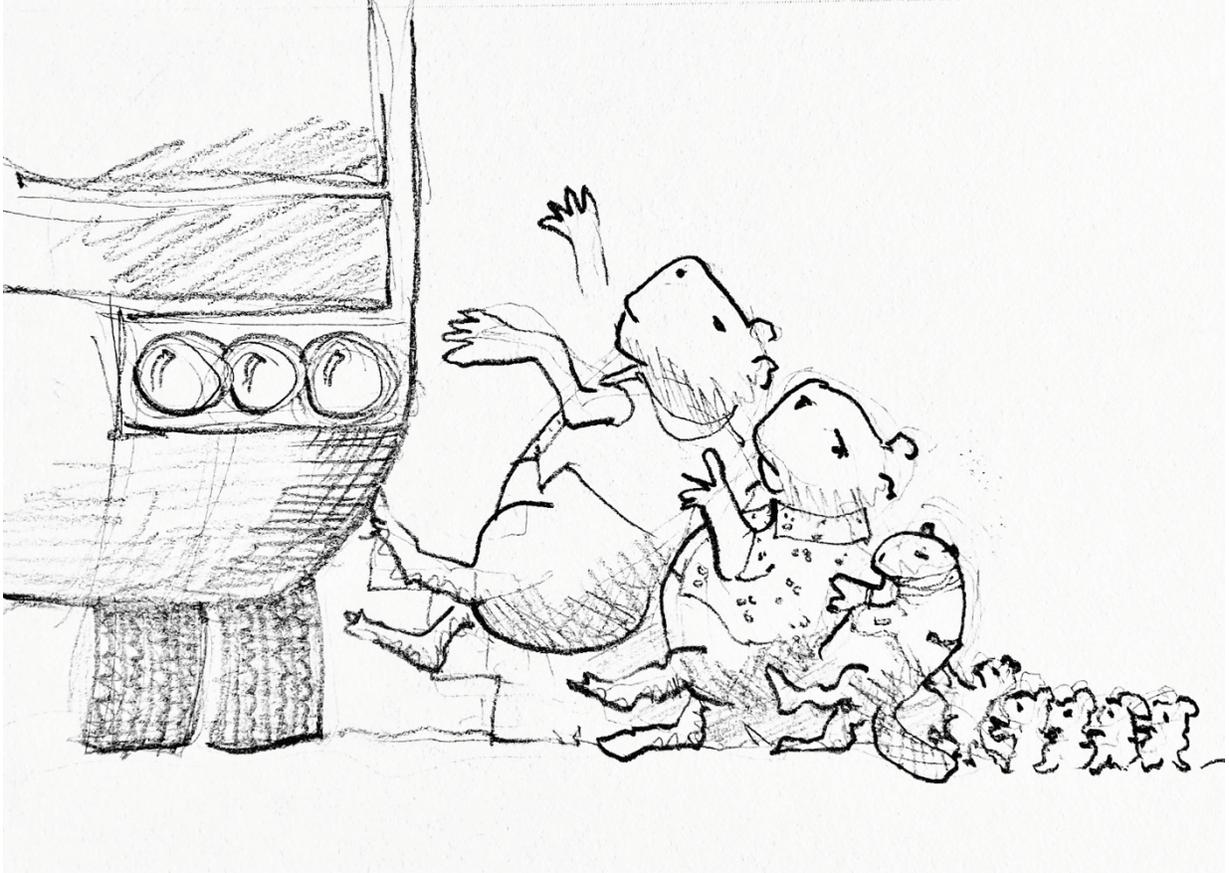

Prince Dobalob, his friend Gari, and Hamish sit in Captain Caplin's cottage. It smells funky because the missing roosters sleep high up on those perches at night.

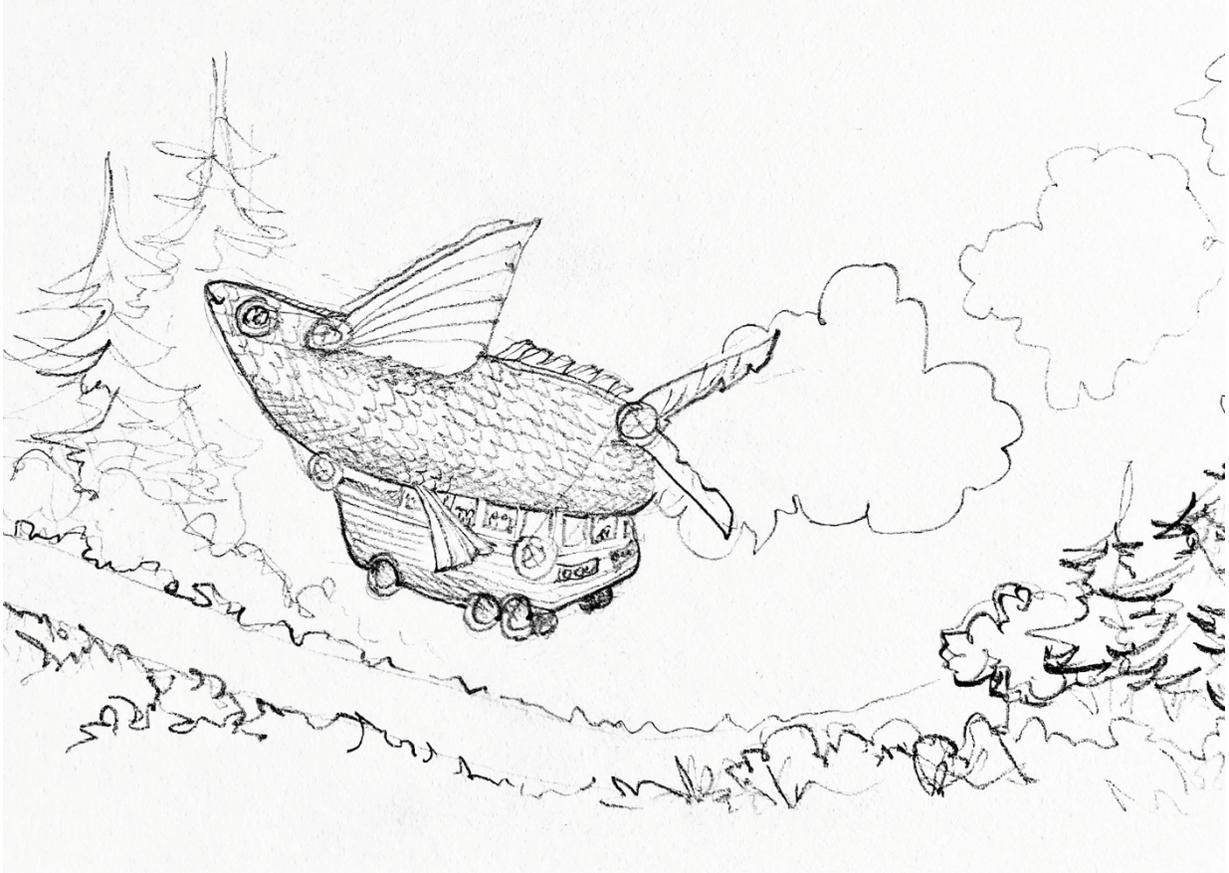

The mysterious neighborhood witch is serving juice. She could walk without spilling if she had feet.

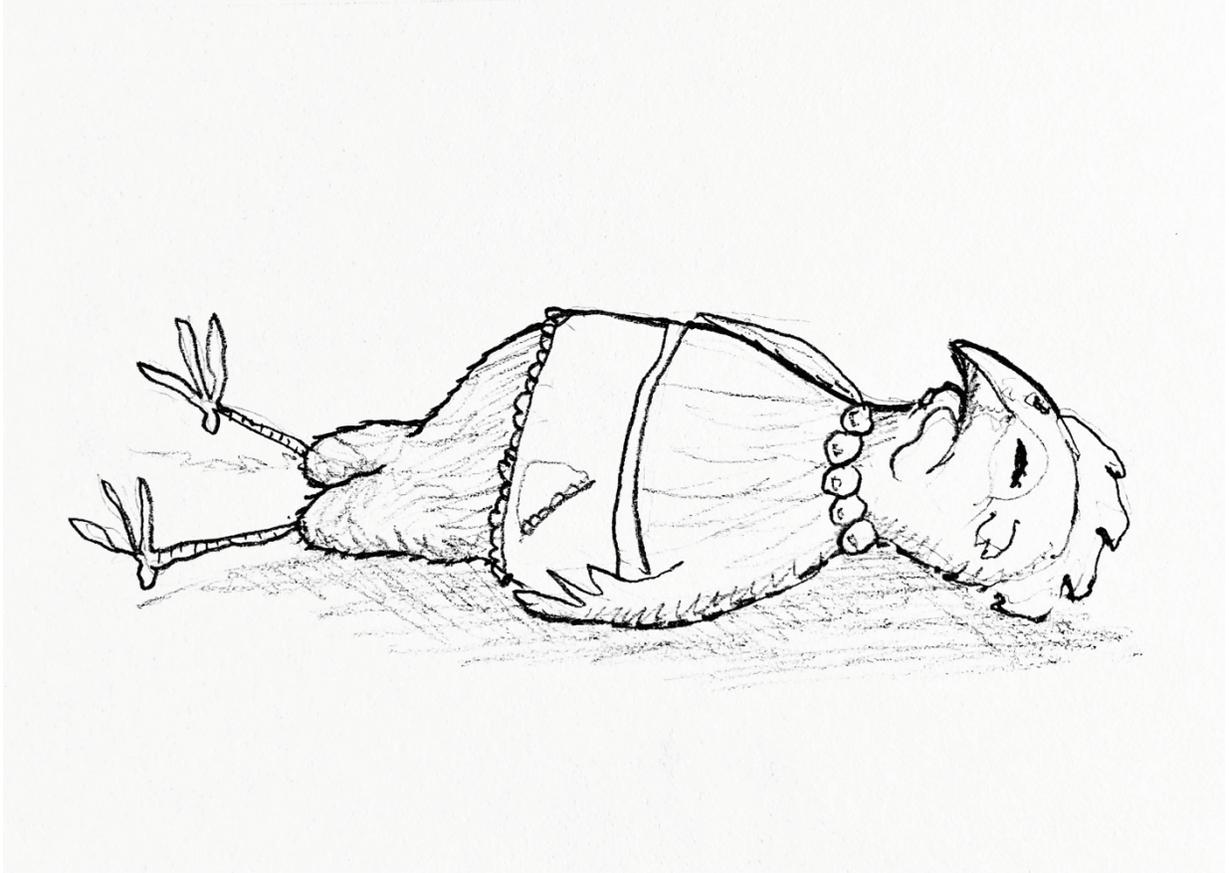

This naked mole rat is watching the monitor for the closed-circuit TV. What does he see?

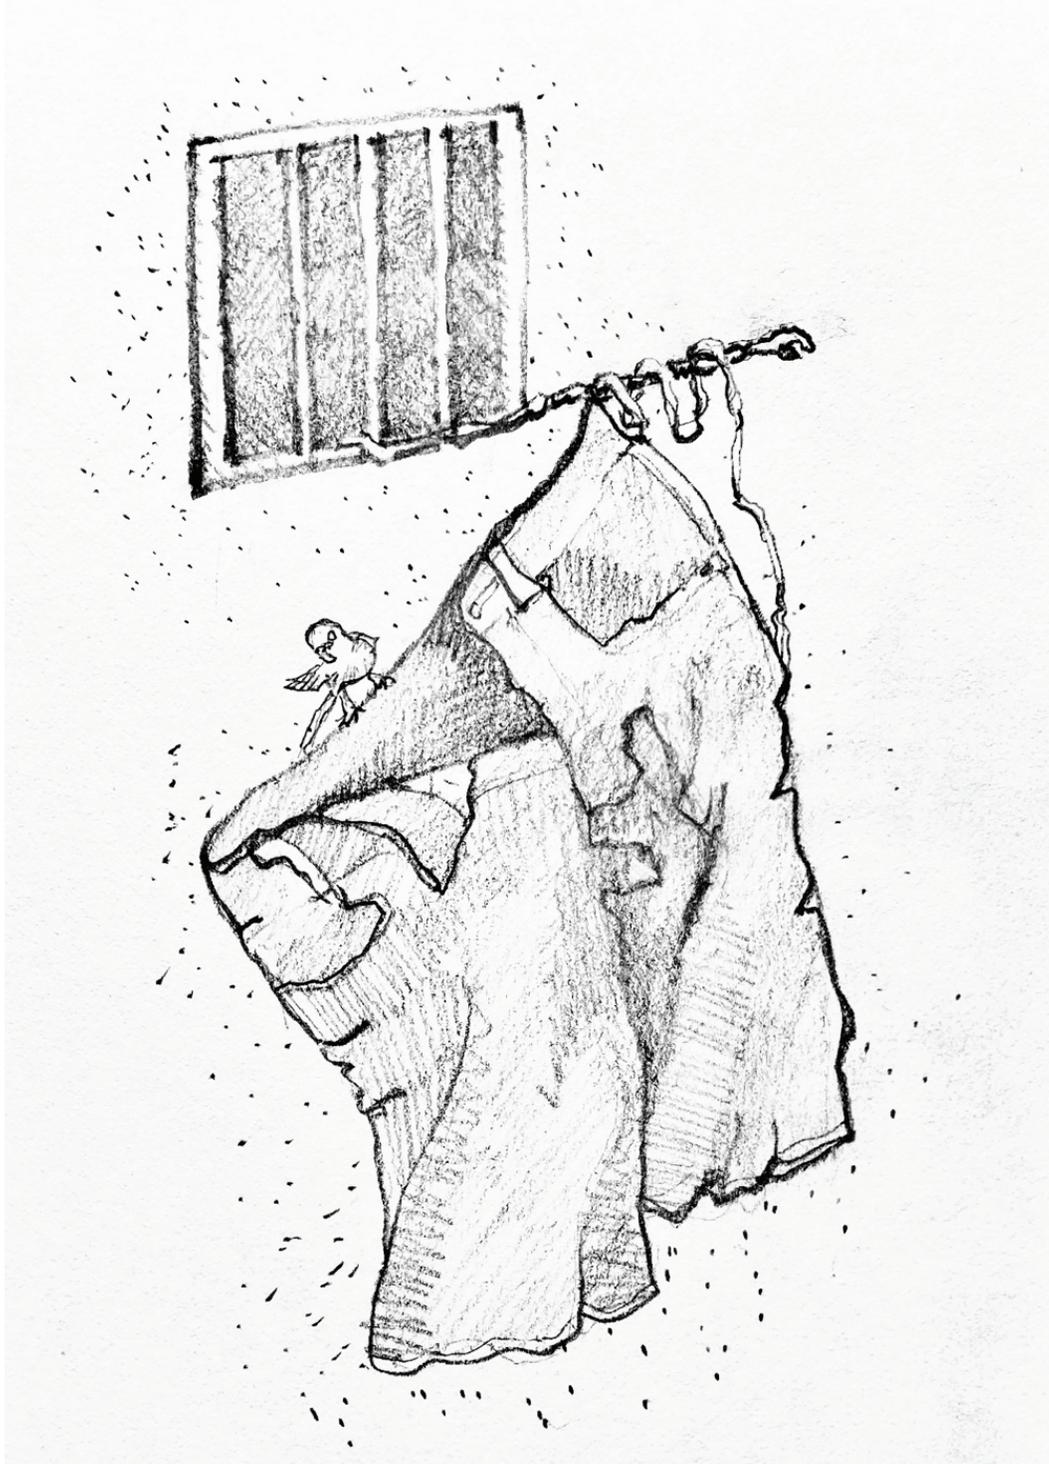

Prince Dobalob is a klutz and can't make it up the stairs. Also, he's afraid of heights and zeppelins go UP! His friends pushed him up this time. Can you draw an elevator for him?

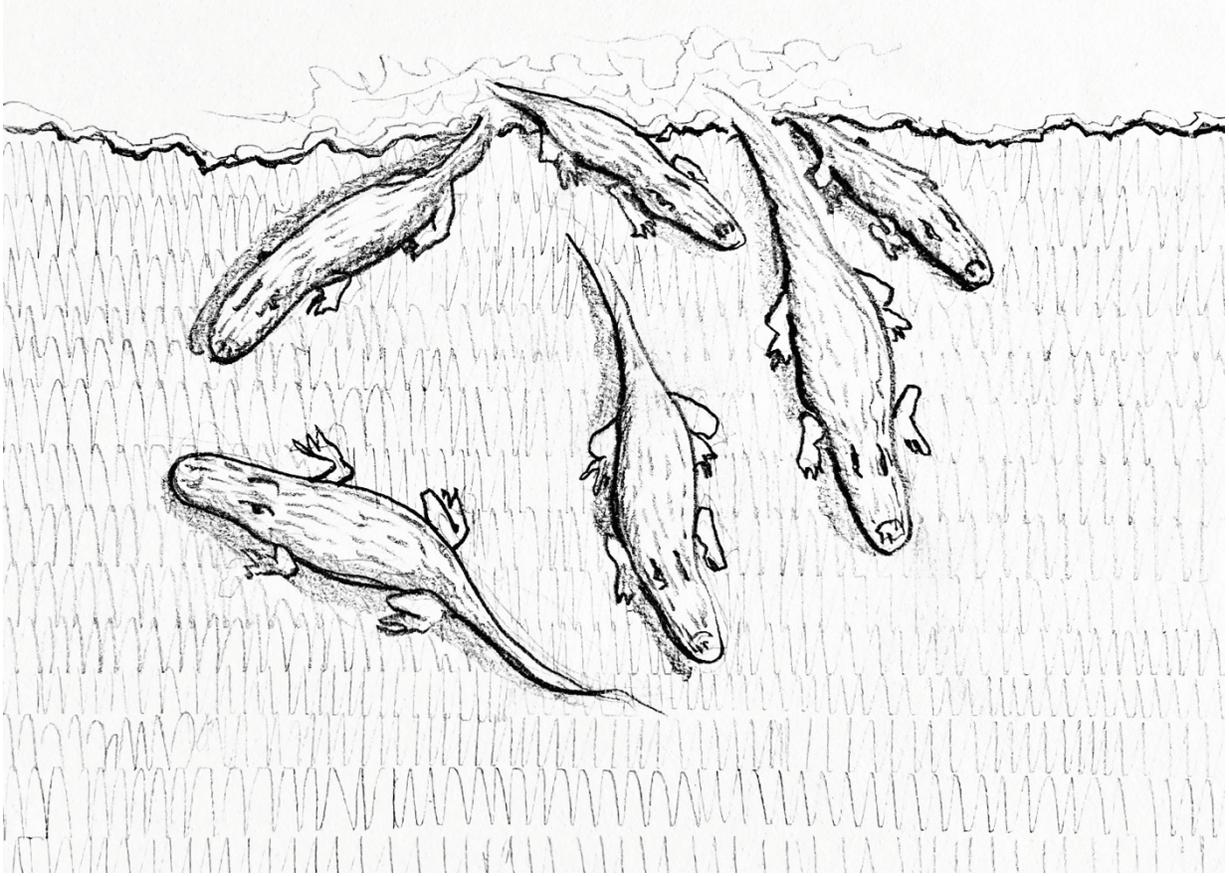

Did you know that zeppelins let out gas to adjust their altitude? That's right, but Dobby's zeppelin farts when it lets out gas! What color are farts? Do they spell funny words?

Bianca isn't dead. She fainted when she saw the missing roosters on the closed-circuit TV. She would perk right up for some seed cakes and maybe some delicious bugs.

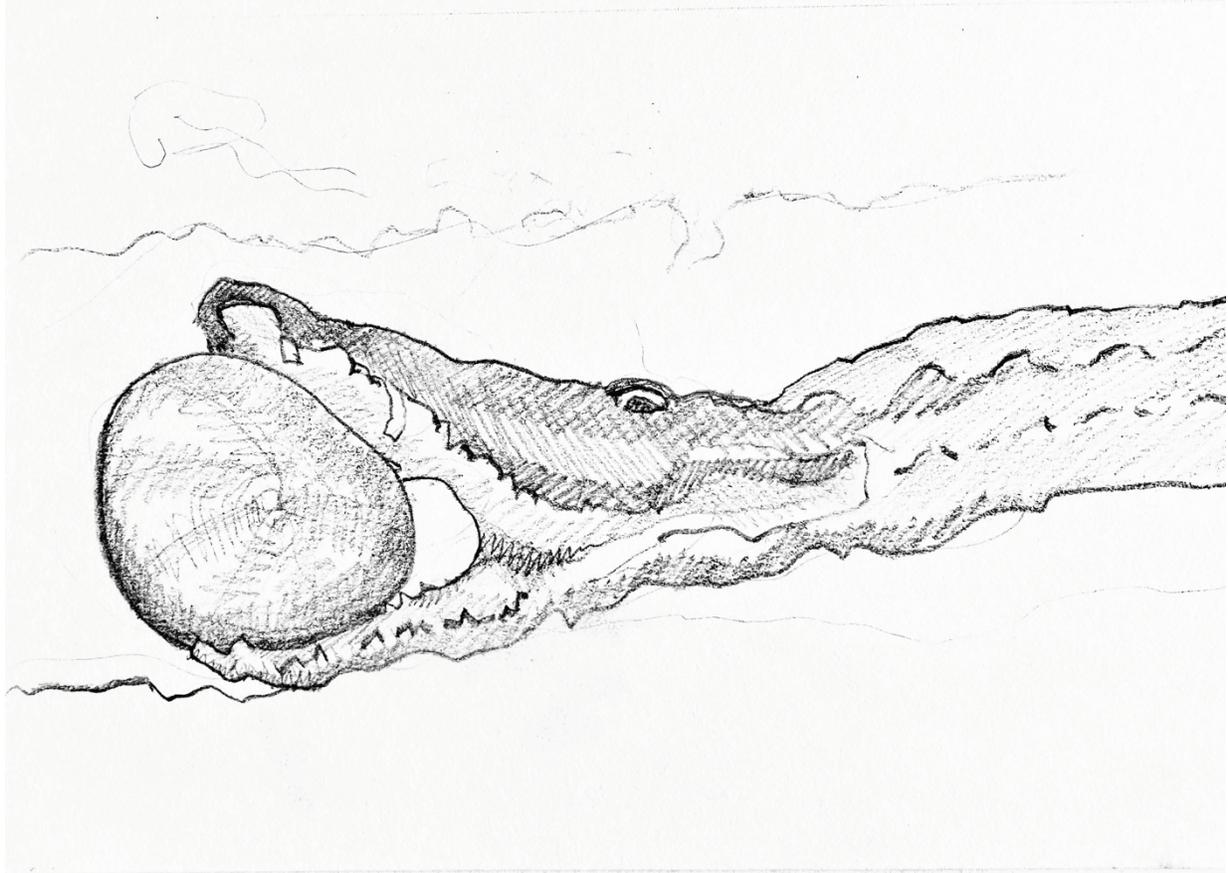

That's Bond, the parakeet, checking out Captain Caplin's enormous trousers. It's a complicated story, but they are hanging outside the dungeon window. The castle wall could use some graffiti.

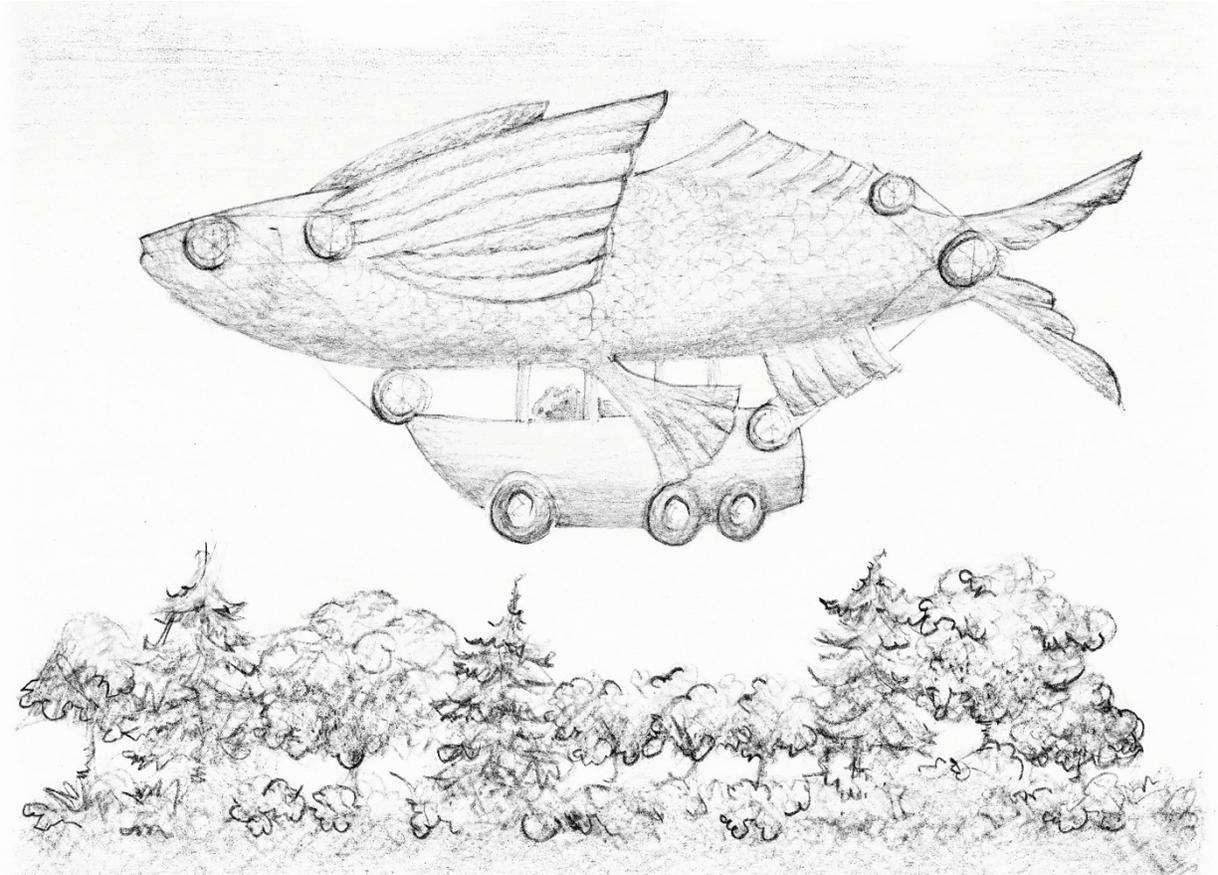

That's not nearly enough alligators.

This is Cu, the oldest squirrel. He is coming to the rescue. He needs a superhero costume with a cape. Or maybe he just needs a skateboard.

Did you know that alligators love watermelons? I just made that up, but it seems like they would like them. What other fruits do they like?

This is Prince Dobalob's fantastical zeppelin. The balloon part is a flying fish, and the riding car underneath is an amphibious vehicle, because you never know. What are they flying over? A castle? Captain Caplin's cabin? A vegetable garden?

Hint: it's alligators!

Prince Dobalob's friend Sylvia is dropping big heavy spiked fruit called durians onto the alligators below. There are a lot of alligators, and she needs lots more durians.

The parakeet, Bond, is hiding on Captain Caplin's fancy hat. He needs a tiny matching hat.

Prince Dobalob is a klutz and he has bumped the cake table. Now they need a new cake for his mother's birthday.